

Deductions for Building & Construction Workers

Work Related Motor Vehicle Deductions

You can claim the cost of using your car to travel between your home and work if all of the following apply:

- you have to carry bulky tools and equipment you need to use at work,
- it is essential to transport the equipment to and from work and it is not done as a matter of convenience or personal choice,
- there is no secure storage area at your workplace.

You can claim a deduction for the cost of using your car for work related travel if:

- you attend meetings
- you attend seminars and training courses
- you are picking up supplies
- you are travelling between job sites

See General Deductions for further information.

Work-related travel expenses you can claim

A deduction is allowable for parking fees and tolls (but not fines) if the expenses are incurred while doing work related travel

Work-related overnight travel expenses

You may be able to claim travel expenses you incurred for meals, accommodation and incidentals while away overnight for work if:

- your employer requires you to travel to a worksite for a short period to perform work, and
- you are required to sleep away from home for one or more nights while you are doing that work.

Overtime meal expenses

You can claim a deduction for overtime meal expenses provided that:

- you received a genuine overtime meal allowance from your employer that was paid under an industrial law, award or agreement
- you have included the amount of the meal allowance as income at item 2 on your income tax return, and
- if your claim was more than the reasonable allowance amount, you have written evidence, such as receipts or diary entries, that shows the cost of the meals.
